23-0023-F	Request	Media	Complex	(b) (6)	15-Feb-23	15-Feb-23	The Request seeks records pertaining to clandestine and/or covert operations in the information environment, including social media platforms, conducted by the Department of Defense ("DOD"), including its combatant command U.S. Transportation Command ("TRANSCOM")The Request is prompted by multiple groundbreaking research and news reports, published in August and September 2022, which allege that the Department of Defense ("DOD") and its combatant commands have engaged in clandestine information operations on major social media platforms. On August 24, 2022, researchers at the Stanford Internet Observatory and the social media analytics firm Graphika published a study ("Stanford/Graphika study"; available at Caution-https://public-assets.graphika.com/reports/graphika_stanford_internet_observatory_report_unheard_voice.pdf) which found that, in recent years, Twitter and Meta (the parent company of Facebook, Instagram, and WhatsApp) had removed networks of accounts which were engaged in influence operations across eight social media platforms and messaging applications that "used deceptive tactics to promote pro-Western narratives in the Middle East and Central Asia" and that "[t]hese campaigns consistently advanced narratives promoting the interests of the United States and its allies while opposing countries including Russia, China, and Iran." The study found that some of the accounts that were taken down were linked to a Twitter account that had previously claimed to operate on behalf of U.S. Central Command ("CENTCOM"), a combatant command of DOD. The authors emphasized that they only had access to incomplete datasets of larger-scale activity and that their findings were "non-exhaustive". The New York Times reported that this study "was the first time that an influence campaign pushing U.S. interests abroad had been discovered and taken down from the social media platforms."On September 19, 2022, The Washington Post reported that U.S. government agencies – namely DOD and its combatant commands, including U.S. Central Command ("CENTCOM") – were suspected of being involved in these activities, citing multiple U.S. government officials (available at Caution-https://www.washingtonpost.com/national-security/2022/09/19/pentagon-psychological-operations-facebook-twitter/). According to the report, concerns about the nature and breadth of these activities prompted DOD to order a comprehensive audit of its "clandestine information warfare" and "psychological operations", including a full accounting from DOD's military commands, by the following month (i.e., October 2022). The Washington Post reported that prior to this audit, DOD had ordered an earlier review of its Military	Full Denial	No Records		Yes	No	1-May-23	0	52
